

RETOY

Košice, Slovakia
8-16 September 2025

PROJECT OVERVIEW

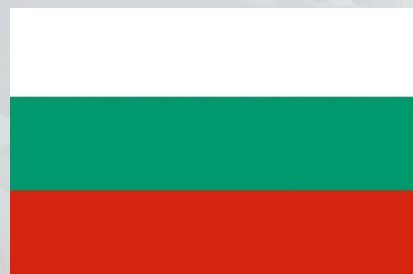

During this creative youth exchange, participants will explore how waste can be transformed into art, toys, and practical tools. We'll document our creations through photos and videos, using AI-generated content to share our message online. We will clean the local community and upcycle the trash we find.

This project is not just about art - it's about giving trash a second life and promoting environmental awareness in fun, hands-on, and innovative ways. As part of the process, participants will also experiment with 3D printing, as a creative method of non-formal education and a tool for developing digital skills while designing and making toys.
